Customer Feedback

"We were very impressed with ABBYY FlexiCapture's ability to capture the data we required. The software is easy to use and, with the terrific support from WiseTrend, the software's ability to be adapted to different variations of data is limitless."

Todd Graff, B & G Manufacturing, Inc.

"After starting our data capture project with the industry's standard approach, we switched to a more predictable approach using WiseTrend methodology. After numerous testing this approach has proven to be the best way. The single complex template would not produce reliable results on different variations. There was too much time required filling in missed fields and even double checking all seemingly successful fields (aka false positives). Using this new methodology we can control and rely on the data capture result. Even when vendors are consistently changing their invoice format, which would cause serious complications and a major need for professional services in the past, using WiseTrend's method it is quick and efficient to make the change."
